Inhalte	"Sweet Dreams are Made of This" proposes to dive into the very essence of interaction design agency, ahead of the thesis semester. How does a design project emerges from a particular interest? Should it have an impact? And at what scale? Through a variety of references, we'll address notions of dreams, contribution, position and ownership, especially as they relate to contemporary societal questions. We usually consider that a novel contribution to knowledge has to be read about, dreamed about in a visionary sense, used and related to, through hands on testing, iterations and prototyping at various stages, explored orally and visually, and discussed by peers and tutors.
Bibliographie / Literatur	Readings are made available in the shared IAD server.
Leistungsnachweis / Testatanforderung	Grades will be based on the oral and written presentations and on class participation. Contributing to constructive group feedback is an essential aspect of class participation. Regular attendance is required (80%). Two or more unexcused absences will affect the final grade. Arriving late on more than one occasion will also affect the grade. - Class participation 20% - Journal/Blog 20% - Assignments 60% - Any assignment that remains unfulfilled receives a failing grade.
