Inhalte	The looming threat of climate change and environmental disasters has grown ever more evident and affects deeply many areas of (human) life. It has not only created a transdisciplinary research field but also a number of artistic strategies approaching the problem. The global environmental crisis is not only a crisis of the hardware of civilization, it is also a crisis of its software - of mindsets. In the center of such mindsets is the notion of nature. Nature as a cultural category needs revision. This seminar provides students with relevant theories, scientific findings and exemplary analyses of artistic approaches. Annemarie Bucher, Dr. sc., lic. phil.
