“When pop can no longer muster a nihilation of the World, a nihilation of the Possible, then it will only be the ghosts that are worthy of our time.” Mark Fisher

Arguably, Berlin is the most exemplary city that has experienced the suddenness of rapidly shifting cultural and political changes in the past century. Following the fall of the wall in 1989, there were boisterous feelings of many possibilities for the future. Suddenly, a space of endless becoming opened for the many artists that moved to Berlin in the 1990's and 2000's.

Cultural theorist Mark Fisher asserted...we lose our grasp on history—and, without a sense of why the past happened the way it did, our anything-goes embrace of “happy hybridities” is an empty gesture.

Are we somehow trapped in the 20th century, re-hashing the material of past events? Or, are we in a new creative era for unique possibilities not only for our perception of history, but in how we imagine the future?

Using Berlin as the backdrop, the course will be partly a survey of this time as well as an exploration into the idea of what the precedence of historical events has had on artists, post 1989 to present.

Week 1: Activities include (via live stream): International artist and cultural agents talks, artist studio visits with Q & A, institution/artist run spaces/museums visits and interviews

Week 2: Individual and group workshops. Preparation for final production of an artist edition and exhibition at an artist run space in Berlin, which will be arranged by the project leaders and can be visited virtually online.
