| Inhalte                               | The course is an interdisciplinary collaboration between Interaction Design and Stage Design. Within the topic "ecologies", we discuss our environment and the ways we engage with powers and systems that surround us. Through that, we become more aware of our personal values and how they influence the way we operate as designers and the possible contradictions that can emerge. We propose to frame that with the terms of "hacking". With "Hacking", we do not (only) mean the popular meaning of "hacking into computer systems". The term also means messing about with something in a positive sense, that is, using playful cleverness to achieve a goal. Hacking can also manipulate or alienate a system, an object, etc. for specific purposes. Thus "Hacking values" can be understood as a method to recognize and hack systems and structures of power and our roles in maintaining or challenging them. The course is structured in lectures from main instructors and guest lectures, as well as exercises showcasing methods from various disciplines (interaction design, art, art education &amp; stage design). The outcome could be a performance, a public space installation or an intervention. |
