Inhalte In this course, choreographer Nanine Linning will give an insight in her artistic working method, especially focusing on the artistic interaction between dance and new technology. The students will be working in the Immersive Arts Space and experiment with different technologies and research divers' esthetics.

Dutch choreographer Nanine Linning (1977, Amsterdam) consciously leaves the beaten theatrical track.

Moving beyond divisions and working across disciplines, combining dance and opera, concerts and installations. Crossing fields of design, video, visual arts and music, her productions are characterized by an explosive movement language and an equally vivid imagery. Linning designs opulent poetic work; her evening-length productions are worlds on their own in their visual and dramaturgical content. Her out of the box concepts make reference to human emotions as well as aspects of cultural history and social criticism. Her close cooperation with diverse internationally known artists and scientists is reflected in the broad spectrum of her projects, which include European co-productions and touring, exhibitions and installations.
